

Paiute PassDistance 10 Miles round tripElevation Gain: 1800 Feet (approx)Location: Piute Pass Trail Head - approx. 9500 feet elevation

Time of Year: June to Late Oct. (This trail will be under snow after the first significant winter storm, usually in November. In a wet year, patches of snow will cover the upper half of the trail well into July.)

Directions from Bishop: West on Line Street (Hwy 168) about 9 miles to the North Lake turnoff. Turn right here and the trail head is another 1.5 miles, park in the hiker parking lot not at the trail head.

Description: Follow the gradually ascending trail about 2.5 miles and approx 1000 elevation gain to Loch Leven Lake. Here you can see the pass and the trail levels out some. It's about another 2.5 miles to the Pass. Be sure and take in the great views of Mt. Humphreys to the northeast before returning.
